7) The algorithm of CLR for building heaps requires a different number of comparisions for different inputs. (a) determine those inputs which require the fewest number of comparisions, how many isthis? (b) find an input which requires many comparisions (the more the better).